

In and around the City of Stockton, are thousands of miles of waterways which make up the California Delta. The Port of Stockton is a fully operating seaport approximately 86 miles east of the Golden Gate Bridge in San Francisco. Bordering these rich waterways are area farms and over 80-wineries. We hope this guide will arm you with valuable information to your new destination. We offer information on housing, transportation, and the many wonderful attractions and sites the Stockton and San Joaquin area has to offer!

LIVING STOCKTON

Housing Resources

With so many housing arrangements to consider, searching for a safe environment is key. The hotel, apartment and internet suggestions have been utilized by our RNs and Vendors numerous times. These locations are known to be in safe areas and offer an easy commute

Tip: Search with relevant key words, "corporate housing", and "short term rental", "vacation rental," and "corporate hotel" as examples. As these words will be necessary to find the information you are looking for, surround them with quotation marks so the search engine knows to look for the specific words in the order you typed.

Internet Searching

When scouring the internet, please do not be fooled by embellished advertisements that tout low starting rents. Ideally, work with websites where you can interact directly with the owner or landlord in advance. Most are free and some offer membership plans. A few recommended Online portals are:

www.furnishedfinder.com

www.airbnb.com

www.vrbo.com

Corporate Housing Recommendations

In addition to websites, your Housing Department has solid suggestions that are both current and in safe residential communities in a short commuting distance to our major hospital facilities. As we accommodate several hundred travelers yearly, we have great recommendations in the Stockton Area with positive feedback from our Travelers!

Tip: It is recommended you consult with the local Chamber of Commerce or Visitor's Bureau for additional references.
